

Use of coaching

Coaching has many applications for ministry in the church. Here are just a few:

- Starting new ministries or congregations
- Congregational redevelopment or renewal
- Stewardship
- Discipleship
- Leadership development (both professional and lay)
- Congregational Vitality
- First call
- Care for Creation

There are many other possibilities. Most coaches find that the skills of coaching have broad applications in other areas of life and ministry. Coaching skills are valuable for leaders of all kinds.

Anyone who wants to walk alongside others as they seek to do what God is calling them to do will benefit from ELCA Coach Launch.

ELCA Coach Launch provides a solid coaching foundation

Training – LEVEL 1

- Attend the two-day training event to learn, apply and practice good coaching skills.
- Complete all written and coaching triad assignments.
- Upon completion, you are a Level I coach in the ELCA.

Practice

- Use new skills by coaching two people for at least five sessions over six months.
- Work with a coach as you are developing your own coaching skills.

Labs – LEVEL 2

- Consider participating in a coaching lab to further develop your skills and a coaching specialty.
- Labs include: Stewardship, Discipleship, Mission Development, Congregational Vitality, and Care for Creation.
- Labs include review of specialty resources and coaching skills practice each session.
- Upon completion, you are a Level II coach in the ELCA.

What is coaching?

Coaching is an intentional relationship in which a trained coach uses powerful questions, strategic listening and accountability to uncover and utilize your strengths and insights to accomplish your goals.

How does ELCA Coach Launch equip coaches?

This course will introduce you to coaching basics and give you an opportunity to practice. Upon completion, you will have a framework to begin using these skills in formal and informal coaching relationships.

Who should attend?

- Previously trained coaches seeking to update their skills.
- Leaders interested in growing coaching skills in order to encourage others to live into their God-given vision.
- Leaders working with those who want to move beyond stuck points to create new ways to accomplish God's purposes in the church and the world.
